I am a Global Commodity Manager at BorgWarner, leading a team of three buyers (including two based in Turkey) and managing an annual procurement portfolio of over €60 million across indirect spend and CapEx. I have driven supply chain rationalization initiatives, delivering a 10% cost reduction over the past two years while ensuring quality and business continuity.

I am seeking a managerial role where I can apply my strategic procurement expertise and leadership capabilities. My experience includes sourcing strategy, supplier development, contract management, and SAP-based data analysis, working cross-functionally with Production, Quality, R&D, Legal, and Finance. I think that procurement is a key strategic driver of business competitiveness and I’m motivated to contribute to a modern, efficient and transparent procurement organization.
