My passion for football, combined with my extensive experience in scouting and discovering promising young talents, motivates me to contribute to the success of your team.

Throughout my career, I have had the opportunity to work as a collaborator for a football club that achieved remarkable progress from Serie D to Serie B in Italian football. During this time, I developed significant skills in scouting, identifying young talented players who played a crucial role in the team's success. My work focused on performance analysis, potential evaluation, and the search for players who could add substantial value to the team. Despite my young age, I have demonstrated strong ambition and dedication in my professional journey. I firmly believe that success in football depends not only on technical skills but also on the ability to identify and nurture emerging talents. My ability to spot young, often unknown, talented players has been fundamental to the growth of the club I collaborated with. I am eager to bring this same passion and determination to a professional football club. I am also willing to travel worldwide to discover new football talents. I strongly believe that football is a global sport and that future champions can emerge from anywhere in the world. My willingness to move and adapt to different cultures and environments allows me to conduct thorough and in-depth research to find the talents needed to build a winning team. Furthermore, I have already prepared detailed reports on young Italian under-20 footballers whom I have personally scouted and believe could be of great interest to your team. I am ready to share these reports and discuss how these players can contribute to your future successes. I am confident that my experience and passion can significantly contribute to the growth and success of your team. I am available for an interview to further discuss how my skills can be valuable to your club and am excited about the prospect of embarking on new professional adventures.
