

FILIP HOLEC

SPORTING DIRECTOR AND CERTIFIED AVIATION CRM TRAINER

I am an accomplished and certified scout, expert on a goalkeeper recruitment and sporting director. I have completed a number of transfers in Central European area and also build a specific non-technical skills measurement strategy for recruitment, which is based on Crew resource management - aviation science focused on mitigating the human factors contribution on accidents in aviation. As a trained expert on assessing non-technical skills for pilots and cabin crew I have realised there is a huge interdisciplinary connection between assessing people in Aviation and football and also that the aviation experience might minimise the relationship bias which is normally occurring among people in football industry. With pragmatic and also data-driven approach I am motivated and eager to develop elite recruitment strategy within right environment.
